HEPTASOPHS.
At the last meeting of Norwich convalesce, No. 124, the proposition was made to have a summer outing during August. It was proposed that this could be held jointly with Bartlett convalesce of New London. The matter was left in the hands of Deputy Hempstead, who is to bring it up before Groton convalesce.

FRATERNAL BENEFIT LEAGUE.
Interest remains unabated among members of the Fraternal Benefit League in the approaching annual field day, Saturday, July 30, at Lighthouse Point. The various councils are co-operating to make the day a success and all indications are that it will prove to be the greatest field day in the history of the order. It will be the seventh annual affair of this kind and in addition will this year mark the tenth anniversary of the birth of the order.

Special cars will convey members to Lighthouse Point, and arrangements have been made for special trains from various parts of the state.

EAGLES.
Plans have been completed for the New England Eagles' annual field day and parade, which will be held in Providence, July 23, 24 and 25. The parade, representing practically all of the principal cities in New England, will take part in the event. The day's programme will begin with a parade, after which the members will go by special cars and boats to Crescent Park, where they will have dinner. A long programme of games and sports has been arranged for the afternoon. Many prizes have been offered, including the prize for the lodge having the largest number in line, and in addition the best appearance and coming the longest distance.

The grand aerie has offered a prize of $200 for the best drilled team in the exemplification of the ritualistic work, and the contest will take place July 27 in Infantry hall, Providence.

PYTHIAN SISTERS.
Officers for the current term were installed on Monday evening at the regular meeting of Clover temple, No. 9, in Pythian hall. The attendance was of good numbers and a meeting full of interest was enjoyed. The installation of officers was presided over by Mary L. Snow of Willimantic, assisted by Grace Sweet as grand sultan and Lillian Rode as grand manager.

The following were placed in office: P. C., Minnie Noyes; M. E. C., Anna Guile; Ex. Sr., Emma Rist; Ex. Jr., Ella Chappell; Coll., Mary E. C. Lillian Rogers; Pro., Mary Routh; G. of T., Jane Whiting; trustee, Ella Chappell; representative to grand temple, Ella Chappell; alternate, Minnie Noyes.

One new name was proposed for membership and prospects of another reported. The financial showing was also the best that has been made in a number of terms and altogether the temple starts this half year under the best conditions it has known in some time.

WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS.
Sedgwick corps, No. 16, voted at its meeting on Friday afternoon at the Buckingham Memorial to furnish a large American flag for the W. R. C. home at Cromwell. The flag will be procured and forwarded to the home without delay and will be swung to the breeze from the flagstaff on the lawn.

Final plans were also made by Sedgwick corps for their annual summer picnic which is to be at Charles H. Brown's place at Gales Ferry, since Mr. Brown extended them an urgent invitation to come. The date is next Thursday, or if stormy, the following day. It is to be a basket picnic, for which each member of the corps will carry her own lunch. They will go down on the 9.06 train in the morning.

REBEKAHS.
Hope lodge, No. 21, held an enjoyable meeting on Wednesday evening in Odd Fellows' hall, at which the visit of D. D. N. G. Jessie Emmerick of New London was received. The deputy brought good news of the condition of the order in the state and suggested plans for stimulating interest and activity in the Rebekah degree.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

"Foley Kidney Pills Have Cured Me."
The above is a quotation from a letter written by H. W. Winkler, Evansville, Ind. "I contracted a severe case of kidney trouble. My back gave out and I was unable to walk. I was also suffering with dizzy spells, my head would swim and specks float before my eyes. I took Foley's Kidney Pills regularly and am now perfectly well and feel like a new man. Foley Kidney Pills have cured me." Lee & Osgood Co.

YANTIC HAPPENINGS.

No Freight Goes Over Road on Friday—Good String of Fish—Personals.
Jabez Bailey was a recent visitor in New York.

A nearby farmer's son found a quail's nest with sixteen eggs in it recently.

Mrs. Henry Lapierre and grandchild, Franklin Lapierre, of Norwich, and Olive and Clayton Lapierre, of Hartford, were in the village Thursday.

Evan Jones and George Schlough returned from Gardner Lake Thursday with a nice string of fish. The largest was caught by George Schlough and weighed two pounds. The others were of good weight.

There was no freight carried over the line on the Central Vermont road Friday. Thursday a freight came up and did considerable switching in the local yard. It was in charge of strikebreakers, with railroad detectives on the cowcatcher, on the lookout for trouble on the track.

Imagination in Polar Bears.
"You've heard, haven't you," said the traveler just home from a trip to the Continent, "about the man who tried to train his horse to live on shoe-pegs instead of oats, because they'd be so much more filling. But that was before the day of Christian Science and faith healing and general cultivation of the imagination, and so the experiment was not a success."

But things are different now. Why, in a zoo over in Berlin I saw a lot of polar bears made perfectly contented and happy by an application of the principle of think-it-is-so-and-it-is.

"Their big den was like a polar scene. Blocks of cement made to represent cakes of ice were piled up into hummocks and hills and caves."

"It looked just like ice, and I suppose the bears thought it was ice, for they clambered around over it, apparently as comfortable and happy as if they had been at home. It just shows what imagination will do even for a creature with as sloping a forehead as a polar bear."—N. Y. Times.

The Stain.
Newark is one of the prettiest cities in Ohio. It is beautifully forested. It has a comfortable, restful air, and there is more than a mere touch of culture about the city. Its age has given it the appearance of substantiality. Its wealth is shown in good streets and rows of well-built homes.

It was in Newark, so fair to the eye, that the citizens rioted in wild lust for blood. It was in Newark, builded strongly because the law gave strength, that the people rose and lynched a man. It was in Newark, so inviting, so homelike, that members of the community marched forth and eagerly dipped their hands in the dye of murder.

After four days of reflection Newark knows whether it can afford to wear its hateful badge of "Jungle." The city knows now that every traveler, every neighbor, who looks upon its handsome homes can sneer at them as the sheltering places of men who took life in the way that gorillas do. The sign of the brute cannot be washed away in this generation.

Child Logic.

A Sparkill correspondent writes: "In a local council school recently a lady teacher instructed her class of little girls to write an essay on 'Mother.' The following is the result of the efforts, lasting over thirty minutes, of one of the little maidens: 'Every body has a mother. I've got one. Some of 'em is good some of 'em is bad, mine is middlin'. My mother married dad. He used to call 'er dillin. He don't now, he calls her missis.'"

HIBERNIANS.

Members of Division No. 2 and relatives of the eighteen deceased members will attend an anniversary requiem mass to be given this morning at 8 o'clock at St. Patrick's church. The following are the deceased members of the division: Benjamin Sullivan, John J. Twomey, Patrick Daly, Thomas Mahoney, William F. Coker, Thomas Greeley, Michael Skelly, William Mahoney, John Coffey, William J. O'Neill, James Cotter, William H. Gernhardt, Michael Mahoney, Patrick Fitzgerald, Patrick J. Fitzgibbon, Patrick J. Mahoney, Michael Finnegan.

Connecticut Patents.

The official list of patents issued to citizens of Connecticut for the week ending July 19, 1910, follows:
A. Adams, East Hartford, pliers; the Sterling company, Derby, piano; the Bryant Electrical company, Bridgeport, electrical contact; the Bristol Brass company, Bristol, regulator; Harvey Hubbell, Bridgeport, shade holder (two patents); reflector for electric lamps; attachment plug; Winchester Repeating Arms company, New Haven, gun; James H. MacDonald, New Haven, interlocking re-inforcing band; Nicholas R. McGrath, Southington, square; Joseph T. Morrison, Hartford, pulley; Edward Miller & Co., Meriden, gas regulator; Waterbury Manufacturing company, Waterbury, plumb line; H. H. Russell & Erwin Manufacturing company, New Britain, certain hardware.

Canada's Coastwise Trade.

After years of neglect of the Canadian coastwise shipping the Dominion government has waked to the serious condition of affairs and decreed that foreign vessels may not carry freight except from a port in the province of Nova Scotia to a point in the province of Quebec for tonnage over 1,500 tons carrying coal until January 1, 1912. According to the maritime people of the provinces, this move was absolutely needed to preserve native shipping from absolute destruction.

The decline in Canadian coast shipping has been enormous. A few years ago Nova Scotia's tonnage was 558,000. In 1909 it had been reduced to 164,000 through the competition of Norwegian craft of cheap construction and manned by cheap labor. Canada fell from fourth to tenth place among the maritime countries of the world and $40,000,000 of invested capital was lost. Under the new regulations the salt water provinces of Canada are beginning to take hope again, although it will be a long labor to regain their former prestige.—Boston Post.

Will Never Disillusion Them.
A British Indian court has declared one of Mr. Bryan's pamphlets seditious. Mr. Bryan should be pleased to learn that he is taken seriously some place.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

About 150 residents of Springvale, Sanford and Alfred, Me., enjoyed a trip to Portland at the astonishingly low rate of ten cents each, all because of an error in some of the printed matter sent out by the railroad company. The rate should have been $1.10, but the first figure "1" did not get printed.

A tall pine tree at Bridgeton, Me., was struck by lightning last spring and now has the appearance of a barber's pole. The bolt struck near the top of the tree, and its course to the ground may be traced by a continuous wide stripe which winds round and round the tree. This stripe is visible for a long distance.
